

PMA CONFEREES RECOMMEND '47 PA. FARM GOALS

Recommendations for farm goals in Pennsylvania in 1947 were made here Wednesday afternoon by six committees of specialists at the closing session of the two-day goals conference of the Production and Marketing committee of Pennsylvania. The proposals must be submitted to Washington for approval before the state goals for the year are formally announced.

The Dairy committee estimated that the suggested goal of the U. S. Department of Agriculture could not be attained in this state. It was the opinion of the 50 member committee that total milk production would decrease by one per cent because the population of dairy cows in Pennsylvania was declining due to the low rate of replacements through the inability of farmers to raise heifers in recent years.

The committee called attention to the "serious loss of dairy animals through the ravages of Bang's disease in Pennsylvania as well as the attractive price being paid for beef animals and dairy cows being butchered to appease the demands of consumers for more meat."

Suggest Remedies

Other factors affecting the dairy population in the state were the depleted sources of protein feeds and the unfavorable labor supply, the committee said. In suggesting remedial proposals to maintain a favorable rate of milk production, the committee recommended more modern, more efficient, and less costly method of Bang's disease control by the state Bureau of Animal Industry; a revision of the parity formula by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as it affects milk production, and continued use of the Agricultural Conservation program to maintain a high level of fertility on Pennsylvania dairy farms as well as for the improvement of pastures. It was the opinion of the committee that the demand for milk had possibly reached its peak because of the dangers facing consumer income. In case of a serious decline in consumption, the committee recommends a price support program to help carry farmers over peak production periods.

Those who will receive summonses are: Richard Leister, Littlestown R. 1; George C. Phillips, Jr., Biglerville; John T. Spicer, Gettysburg R. 4; Dale F. Bowling, Fairfield R. 2; Guy W. No traffic tickets were issued. Instead, the officers on duty wrote down the license numbers of the offending automobiles and listed the owners from these numbers. Names and addresses were turned over to Squire Snyder. Numbers were taken on Sunday night at 7:30 p. m. and on Monday night at 8:15 p. m.

For A Bigger And Better GETTYSBURG

This is the eighth in a series of nine articles by nine representative citizens of Gettysburg on what, in their estimation, are the three most important community projects for Gettysburg.

By C. A. HEIGES

Burgess of Gettysburg

I have your letter in which you ask for an expression of my opinion as to the three most important things that Gettysburg can or should undertake as Community Projects.

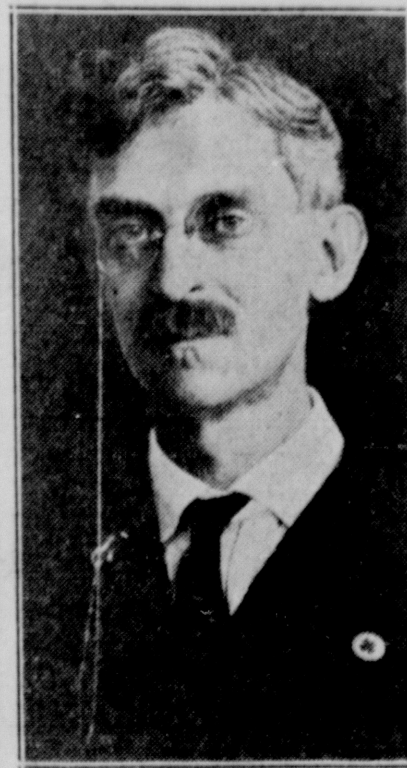

Comfort Station

First: In my opinion the first and most important community need is a Comfort Station located under the pavement in Center Square such as York has, only on a smaller scale. Due to Gettysburg Battlefield and Gettysburg Borough being almost synonymous, each being a part of the other, I was in hopes of getting help from the Department of the Interior at Washington, and with the aid of Congressman Gross, who was heartily in favor of this, we endeavored to put the matter through. Mr. Gross contacted the above department. He also talked the matter up with a number of congressmen and senators, and they were all favorable to the move. However, at that time no funds were available or authority in effect. I then tried for a government work project to have the work done, and again no funds were available.

Am now working on a plan other than through the government, and in addition if sufficient interest and financial help can be secured locally there is a chance of yet making the grade—certainly the Press, Service Clubs, Fraternal Clubs and Organizations, and public spirited citizens should get back of this move. In addition to the hundreds of thousands who visit Gettysburg annually, there is also great need for this locally for Gettysburg and county folks. By actual count the small toilet facilities in the YWCA on an ordinary Saturday night are used by 150 to 200 people, which does not include any tourists, and the facilities are entirely inadequate for local use alone, and something must be done.

Garbage Collecting System

Second: I think we need a borough controlled Garbage System, backed by our citizens, with proper equipment and facilities to handle the garbage and refuse in a sanitary way, so as to keep our streets clean and sanitary—and let us put into effect the slogan: "Gettysburg, The Town Beautiful."

Permanent Cooking School

Third: For this I have two projects in mind and am at a loss to know which is the more important: "Shall we kill the mosquitoes" or is it more important "not to allow young brides to torture and kill their husbands with poor cooked food." Have decided on the latter. My suggestion is the establishment of a cooking school, not for a week or two in the year, but a permanent school. If this is done, it will raise the morale of a great many young men, lower the morale for doctors and druggists, reduce indigestion, and cultivate cheerful dispositions.

1,000 Celebrators Cavort In Halloween Parade Here; Prize Winners Announced

Five thousand Adams countians jammed Gettysburg's streets and center square Wednesday night for the first Halloween parade and celebration held here since before the war.

More than 1,000 spooks, goblins, and the like took part in the parade which wound from Meade school along Chambersburg street around the square down York and finally back to the square via East Middle and Baltimore streets.

The prize for the largest organization in line went to the Gettysburg Safety Patrol with more than 100 in the line of march.

County Units Appear

The parade was lead by Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster and Sgt. W. Kurt Duhrhoff of the Pennsylvania state police on motorcycles. Next was the marshals' car driven by Harry E. Bender and containing Marshals Henry W. Garvin, Edward Culp, William Eckenrode and Wilbur Geiselman.

Following the Blue and Gray band came the local safety patrol, the Women of the Moose and the "March of the Holidays," of the Mademoiselle club of York Springs. The Biglerville high school band followed leading a procession of floats, gaily decorated bicycles, decorated cars, and jeeps, horses and similar Halloween displays.

COUNTIAN AND ITALIAN BRIDE EXPECTED HERE

T/3 Henry Eugene Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Riley, Gettysburg R. 3, and his Italian bride are expected to arrive in the United States within a day of each other, with the bride scheduled to arrive home first.

The bride, Mrs. Ordite Riley, is scheduled to arrive on the S. S. Barry Saturday and will arrive here by bus. Her husband, Sergeant Riley is also enroute to the U. S. and is expected to arrive here Sunday.

Originally the couple hoped to come home on the same boat but army orders could not be arranged so that the couple could come to the U. S. on the same vessel.

Sergeant Riley and his bride were married in Italy August 14 where the soldier was stationed with the 339th Field Artillery Battalion. He was sent to Italy October 20, 1945. He entered the army April 3, 1945.

The Italian bride will miss a reunion of her family scheduled for December when her father, who was captured over two years ago in Africa while a member of the Italian army, is expected to be released as a war prisoner.

counties in Pennsylvania which has not made application for financial grants from the Pennsylvania Post-War Planning Commission toward the cost of plans and specifications for post-war public works. One million dollars was made available by the state legislature in 1945 for this purpose and all counties, except six, have taken advantage of the money available.

$393 has been made available to Adams county. No application has been filed. The money is still available.

238 project grants have been approved by the Commission totaling $745,740.23. The grants involve work totaling $105,023,411.05 which, according to the Commission, will provide 28,867 man years of employment.

75 Patients Jam Hospital

Facilities in the maternity department of the Warner hospital are "temporarily over-crowded" at present, the hospital said today. New patients naturally bring an increase in the number of visitors which at this time of year increases the likelihood of bringing respiratory infections to patients.

There are 75 patients there today, near the all-time record, including 22 babies.

Hospital authorities request that a thoughtful public cooperate in helping safeguard the health of the patients in the maternity department by limiting visitors to the immediate members of the family.

This situation will be alleviated when the Christian H. Musselman annex is opened, the hospital spokesman said.

ARENDTSTVILLE TO MARK WORLD COMMUNITY DAY

A World Community Day service, sponsored by the Women's Guild of Zion Reformed church, Arendtsville, and the Women's Missionary society of Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville, will be held in Zion Reformed church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The theme of the service is "The Price of Enduring Peace."

The worship period will be in charge of the Rev. Nevin R. Prantz. A vocal solo by Bruce Raffensperger will be followed by three short talks by these three students of the Arendtsville high school: Elaine Taylor, Sterling Singley and Guy Fissel. Their topics are: "Communism and How It Works," "Relations Between the United States and Russia" and "What Part Will the United Nations Play in this Problem." A discussion period will follow the presentation of the talks and will be in charge of the Rev. George H. Berkheimer, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church.

The offering and dedication of the "Kiddie Kits" will be in charge of Mrs. D. B. Lady. Music by a men's chorus will precede the address of the evening to be given by Rev. Mr. Berkheimer.

The Council of Church Women, with headquarters in New York city, is challenging the women of America to provide 500,000 "Kiddie Kits," bundles of clothing for toddlers age one to four. Each "kit" contains the following articles: Two dresses or suits, three panties or one dozen diapers, three shirts, three pair of socks, one pair soft house slippers, one soft toy, a bright scarf, three towels, three wash cloths, one pair of mittens, one cap, two sweaters, all wrapped in a blanket 36x48. This clothing will be taken to the Friends Service Center, New Windsor, Md., baled and shipped overseas within eight days of its receipt at the center.

Four complete "Kiddie Kits" have been assembled and will be displayed and consecrated during the service. The public is invited to participate.

SNAP UP RUSS DISARMAMENT SUGGESTIONS

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Many delegates to the United Nations assembly feel that Russian speech indicated distrust and misunderstanding of the motives of the United States and other nations, but they were quick to jump on his disarmament bandwagon.

Previously, general disarmament had hardly been considered. Then suddenly it became a general desire, but with the proviso that it must be accompanied by international inspection and guarantees similar to those suggested by the U. S. for the atom bomb. That will prove a tough provision when it comes to convincing the Russians.

But Molotov's proposal could hardly have been better timed to fall in with the Austin restatement aided by a brief word from President Truman, of American policy. For those who may have mistaken frequent failure to implement that policy for a lack of one, a few lines are sufficient to describe it. It has always been the same, both abroad and at home.

Fixed Points

Austin said the U. S. is for removing of arms, for a decent life and for a rising standard of living in the light of the golden rule. Truman said there was a special connotation in world affairs to be drawn from those famous words "Government of the People, by the People, for the People."

Whatever tangents may have been taken in individual cases, those points still remain fixed and all-inclusive.

Mr. Austin was not inclined to grapple with Mr. Molotov in an atmosphere of recrimination. But did get in some oblique digs. Such as "the initiative of the Soviet Union in this (disarmament) matter is appropriate, because of its mighty armies," and then softened it with "just as the initiative of the United States was appropriate in proposing measures to prevent the manufacture and use of atomic weapons."

Ineffective In Past

The size of Russia's army and its deployment outside her borders has been one of the first causes of world nervousness. It is one of the chief reasons why the United States feels forced to maintain the greatest peace-time force in her history.

There now seems to be no reason to expect arms limitations or controls to be any more effective than in the past. Armies, atom bombs, and war materials in general all fall into the same category. Any plan which will actually control them will control war itself, and neither is likely to happen before the other.

SHOE CONTROLS GO OFF; EXPECT SOARING PRICES

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—Decontrol of the nation's $2,000,000,000-a-year shoe industry, as well as removal of ceilings on all leather, went into effect today. OPA officials said retail shoe prices might soar 20 to 30 per cent above present levels before they begin to turn downward.

A clash between OPA and reconversion Director John R. Steelman was seen in the fact that the decontrol order—as emphasized by the OPA—came on White House orders from Steelman.

The OPA itself had flatly declared two weeks ago, when President Truman freed meats and livestock, that the lid would remain on shoes and leather.

Year Since Rationing

In forecasting a price rise, the OPA noted that production is expected to lag 50,000,000 pairs behind the estimated 550,000,000 pairs needed in 1947.

The end of all price tags on shoes came exactly one year to the day after wartime rationing of shoes was lifted.

OPA meanwhile let it be known that its master decontrol plan originally scheduled to be made public tomorrow will not be released until next week, presumably after the election.

Officials have said the administration's decision on what to do about the present wage stabilization board is to be announced simultaneously, and the White House said yesterday that announcement would not be forthcoming until after next Tuesday's balloting.

EXPECT 750,000 HUNTERS IN PA.

Harrisburg, Oct. 31 (AP)—The state's small game season opens tomorrow and extends for one month with Seth Gordon, executive secretary of the Game Commission estimating that during the 30-day period nearly 750,000 hunters will tramp the woodlands in quest of cottontail rabbits, or elusive partridges.

"Generally speaking it looks as though conditions will be better than last year when ammunition was scarce and hunters were tied up with war work," said Gordon.

The Game Commission secretary said that the recent warm weather might lower the kill in the opening days, but looked forward to more seasonable days before the end of the month.

He emphasized that the hunting hours for opening day will be between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m., two hours later at the start than ordinarily, but that for the remainder of the season the hours would be from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The trapping season also opens tomorrow for minks, opossums, skunks, and raccoons, and extends until February 1, 1947. Bag limits have been removed from the small fur-bearing animals.

The big game season will get under way on November 18 when a five-day bear season gets under way. Gordon said advance reports indicated a normal supply of bear and deer for the coming season.

The deer season opens on December 1 and extends to December 14 for antlered male deer with at least two points. The limit is one to a hunter and six for each hunting party. A special six day antlerless deer season has been fixed for six counties starting on December 9. The counties are parts of Carbon, Luzerne, Schuylkill, Wayne, Susquehanna and Wyoming.

MAROONS FACE HERSHEY WITH CRIPPLED CLUB

By far the toughest assignment of the season for the Gettysburg high school football team awaits the Maroons Friday evening when the unbeaten and untied Hershey high Trojans will be met in the Hershey stadium at 8 o'clock.

The Trojans, defending South Penn conference champs, are headed for their second straight crown as a result of seven successive wins, five of which are conference triumphs.

From every angle of comparative scores, however, the Maroons are a pre-game five-touchdown favorite. On top of that the Maroons will enter the game in the poorest physical condition and with the consequent lowest man-power for any contest this season.

Joe Hes, Jay Hershey and Bob Hottle suffered injuries in the last minutes of play against Chambersburg last Friday which will probably sideline them for the game.

Reserves Low
Hess, 195-pound fullback whose kicking and running has been one of the mainstays of the Maroons this year, is suffering with a shoulder and ankle injury. Jay Hershey, halfback, has a severe ankle injury and appears definitely out of the contest. Hottle, 190-pound tackle, had a bad knee.

Coach George Forney is forced to dip deep into the jayvee outfit for his replacements. He plans to use Jack Ridinger in place of Hess with Don and Bill Bucher taking over Hershey's chores. Hottle's post will be filled by either Guy Donaldson or Dick Coleman.

Since Hess, Hershey and Hottle ranked one, two, three, respectively, in the punting department the Maroons will be severely handicapped in that phase of the game.

Despite the dark outlook for the coming game the Maroons will not without hope of springing the season's biggest surprise. Back in 1942 Gettysburg faced a Hershey team which was unbeaten with a record of seven straight wins and spoiled that record with a smashing 32-6 victory.

With the loss of Hess and Hottle, two of the heaviest regulars on the squad, the Forney-men will be greatly outweighed by the veteran Hershey aggregation. Johnny Huzvar, who tops the conference in scoring with 59 tallies, packs 214 pounds and has plenty of speed. The remainder of the Trojan backfield, Gaspar, Gaspari and Clark, also has plenty of poundage while the forward wall is one of the biggest in the South Penn loop.

Other Games
Hershey's victory string is as follows: Hummelstown, 32-7; Shippenburg, 33-6; Middletown, 27-0; Mechanicsburg, 25-0; Chambersburg, 7-0; Waynesboro, 40-6, and Carlisle, 26-0.

Other conference games listed for Friday night include Carlisle at Hanover, and Chambersburg at Waynesboro. Mechanicsburg plays at Shippensburg Saturday afternoon.

Delone Catholic, of McSherrystown, plays Mt. Carmel Catholic on the latter's field tonight.

BUCKNELL HOST TO BULLETS IN SATURDAY TILT

The Western Maryland-Gettysburg junior varsity game on Memorial Field Friday afternoon will start at 3 o'clock, it has been announced.

Bucknell's fast improving football team will be host to the Gettysburg college eleven in the 31st game of a series begun in 1893 Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock with the teams locking horns at Lewisburg.

Coach "Hen" Bream has announced that Ross Sachs, former Gettysburg high ace, is again fit and will see plenty of action against the Bisons. He will alternate with Ray Kreider in the number four backfield spot. Sachs missed the Lafayette, Drexel and N.Y.U. contests due to an injury.

The Bullet squad was augmented recently with the addition of Hart, an end, and Wellman, a back. Both may get into Saturday's contest.

Win Last Two
The Bisons have won two games while losing three. Coach Humphries' outfit lost to Cornell 21-0 in the season's opener. On the following Saturday Penn State was victorious 48-6 while Muhlenberg eked out a 6-0 victory. The Bisons defeated Buffalo 21-0 and last week smothered Lafayette 29-0. Gettysburg holds a 27-14 win over the latter team.

Two lads the Bream-men will be particularly wary of in the Bucknell lineup will be Gene Hubka, former Temple halfback, and Frank Yanelli, another halfback, who performed so creditably against the Lafayette outfit. Both are clever

MOUNT CAGERS CARD 21 TILTS

Mount St. Mary's college Tuesday announced a 21-game conference basketball schedule starting December 19, and simultaneously revealed they will attempt to schedule their ten home-games at the Maryland National Guard Armory, Frederick.

The Mountaineers have more than the nucleus of a winning quintet, with Pete Clark, center, 1943 conference championship team and Bill Maguire, a Guard on the same five, both back this year.

Ralph De Stefani, one of the few good footballers at the Mount this season, is also showing signs of promise as a cager.

Mount St. Mary's, with the largest enrollment in its history, has a wealth of ex-GI material with which to make up a 1946-1947 basketball squad.

The number of players and enlarged cheering-section has crowded the Mount gym past capacity. Officials said, forcing the Mountaineers to request National Guard officials here, for facilities of the State Armory, for their games.

Negotiations are understood to be on, between the Armory custodians and Mount St. Mary's, for play at Frederick to be inaugurated December 19, with Carlisle as the first competition for the Mount. The final home-date of the Mountaineers is against Towson Teachers, February 20.

The schedule just released, lists these home games: Dec. 19, Carlisle; Jan. 17, Bridgewater; Jan. 22, Washington College; Jan. 27, Frostburg Teachers; Jan. 29, Loyola of Baltimore; Feb. 6, Bainbridge; Feb. 11, St. Francis (Pa.); Feb. 13, Western Maryland; Feb. 18, Aberdeen; Feb. 20, Towson Teachers.

Away from home games, are:

Loyola, Towson, Frostburg, Aberdeen, Bainbridge, Westminster, Chestertown, Bridgewater, St. Francis, Carlisle and American U.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 5 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent urination, sometimes with smarting and burning with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, most successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney trouble flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Grotesque and Funny Costumes
Adorn Members: King Momus and his chief aides, Mirth and Laughter, Fun and Frolic, were enthroned and reigned supreme in Gettysburg for several hours Friday evening while the youthful subjects of the sovereign of joviality made merry to their hearts' content.

Mingling with the blare of the two bands, the Paradise Protectorate and the Citizens', were the sounds of hundreds of artificial noisemakers in the hands and mouths of the gay paraders, clad in colorful and ridiculous costumes. The frolic was conducted under the auspices of Gettysburg aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles. After the parade the boys and leader of the Paradise Protectorate band were treated to an oyster supper by the Eagles at their home.

Allen B. Plank was chief marshal of the parade with John Storm and William Adair as aides.

Rotarians Visit Bedford Club:
Nine members of the Gettysburg Rotary club attended the charter night celebration of the newly organized Bedford Rotary club at Bedford Thursday evening. Auditor General Edward Martin, of Harrisburg, was the principal speaker. Rotarians from Gettysburg at the meeting were George W. Boehner, C. W. Cook, M. C. Jones, A. B. Plank, E. C. Ott, J. Price Oyler, S. G. Spangler, John W. Spangler and Edmund W. Thomas.

Expect to Start New Church Here:
Initial steps toward the founding of a congregation of the Methodist Protestant church were taken at the Sunday night services conducted in the auditorium, Fourth and Hanover streets, when four members, who will eventually be the board of trustees, were admitted into membership in that church.

The Rev. Thomas C. Jones evangelist, who has been conducting services during the past week, is a preacher of the Methodist Protestant church, by whom he was sent to this community to make a survey and if possible organize a church. Those who became the charter members of the church were: James W. Bodley, Emory E. Williams, John H. Raymond and William F. Haner. They were appointed as a board of trustees immediately following the ceremony.

Klan Attends A. M. E. Zion Church:
More than fifty members of the Ku Klux Klan attended the evening services at the St. Paul's A. M. E. Zion church, Sunday evening, of which Rev. R. J. Frazier is pastor. A purse was presented to the congregation by the visiting members.

Mothers' Club Meets in York:
An interesting meeting of the Mothers' club was held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard Spangler in York. The president, Mrs. S. F. Snyder was in charge.

A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Spangler and the associate hostess, Mrs. Zinn. Twenty-five members attended the meeting.

State Police Barracks Here Once More:
"The state police are back." The local substitution of the troopers was closed August 18, and Tuesday afternoon quite unexpectedly the barracks were opened on the second floor of the R. F. Topper building, Baltimore street.

The new detail is in command of Corporal Arthur Snyder. The other two members are Trooper C. B. Robenolt and Trooper Walter Powell.

Eastern Stars Hold Banquet:
Celebrating the second anniversary of the founding of the Gettysburg chapter, Order of Eastern Stars, members of the organization held a banquet at the Hotel Gettysburg Wednesday evening. Places were set for sixty-nine guests. Dr. Frank H. Kramer was toastmaster.

County Boys Win Judging Contest:
Competing against seven other teams, a trio of boys from the Arendtsville Vocational school won first place in a milk judging contest.

Today's Talk

ATTITUDE OF MIND

Our thoughts are what we are, and our plan of thinking marks the way to our health and happiness, or to our ill health and unhappiness. Our attitude of mind is everything. We have among us a goodly group of unfortunates—those who strongly control their own lives along cheerful lines and who influence others to do likewise.

A cheerful, unfearing person is an asset, no matter where he is stationed. He will uplift a family, a business—and even a nation! The disturbed mind is the one out of control, and out of tune with the Infinite, whose blessings are scattered all about the world, within grasp of the poorest and humblest.

We must somehow get the right attitude toward life itself—not a wondering and skeptical one, but a receptive and believing one. We must believe in ourselves, and in the good intentions of others. We must never forget that others have feelings, and are subject to the same influences that we are, to a greater or less degree.

The answer to life is within each of us, and we can make it affirmative or negative. It's all in our own hands. There are those who live the triumphant life the moment that they become conscious of the great forces, both physical and spiritual, that background all life. They know no defeat, no failure! There is a positive attitude of mind. They take sorrow, disappointment and all setbacks in their stride—courageously, and with a religious fervor.

Our attitude of mind has a powerful effect upon our bodily health. A stream of cheerfulness and inspired faith travels through every inch of blood circulation and stimulates every physical organ in the human body. Little do we realize this power. The possibilities for health and happiness lie within ourselves.

Spiritual security is of far more importance than physical security—and it can be attained by cultivating a serene and peaceful attitude of mind. Merely wishing for it is too negative. It must be willed! Our whole nature must respond toward its attainment.

NEW STOPPAGES LOOM ON LABOR FRONTS TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

New threats of work stoppages appeared on the nation's industrial front today as government officials mapped plans to meet with John L. Lewis tomorrow, hopeful of averting a strike by 400,000 soft coal miners.

In Chicago there was a threat of a shutdown of operations at the big stock yards, making idle some 25,000 workers, while in Detroit officials of Ford Local 600 of the CIO United Auto Workers said they soon would file with the National Labor Relations Board a 30-day strike notice against the Ford Motor company covering 70,000 workers at the company's Rouge plant.

After a new outbreak of fighting between pickets and police at the strike-bound Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company plant in West Allis, Wis., Mayor Arnold Klentz appealed to Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach to have the company and CIO-United Auto Workers resume negotiations in an effort to settle the six-months-old dispute.

Wages Are Issue
The threatened work stoppage at the Chicago stock yards came as a result of a wage dispute involving 450 stock-handlers, who, a spokesman for the CIO United Packinghouse Workers said, might strike "any time after tonight" if demands for wage increases of 16 cents an hour are not met.

The action by the CIO-UAW in Detroit came after several weeks of discussion between the union and the Ford company over union claims that working conditions at the Rouge plant were unhealthy. The flurry of renewed fighting at the Allis-Chalmers plant marked the third successive day of disorders on the picket lines. Police and deputy sheriffs were the targets of rock, fruit and paint, and autos were tipped over and windows in cars broken. Nine persons were arrested.

Mayor Klentz appealed to Schwelienbach to have the company and the CIO-UAW resume negotiations "in the interest of public welfare and as a means of avoiding further violence in our streets."

In the 11-day-old strike by 1,400 AFL pilots against the Trans World Airline in a wage dispute, Federal Mediator Frank P. Douglass expressed hopes of bringing the disputants together.

CIO Demonstration For Brewery Pickets

Pittsburgh, Oct. 31 (AP)—About 300 CIO unionists held a demonstration at a South Side brewery today, taunting members of the AFL Teamsters Union who are picketing the plant.

The hour-long demonstration was in retaliation for the teamsters' attempts to win back to AFL affiliation members of the CIO United Brewery Workers.

The demonstrators listened to speeches by CIO leaders and music from a sound truck. Among the unions represented were the CIO United Steelworkers and the CIO United Electrical Workers. Finally, the CIO men formed into marching ranks and strode away from the Duquesne Brewing company plant.

Officials of the teamsters said, however, that the embargo will be deferred pending a survey of the city's food supply.

Since the object of the embargo would be to prevent removal of food and other supplies from Pittsburgh railroad yards, the teamsters said that before they put it into force they wanted to ascertain whether sufficient food could be brought into the city by trucks.

The union said its proposed action was in retaliation for railroad acceptance of coal shipments, normally hauled by trucks, to three picketed Pittsburgh breweries. Neither the railroad Brotherhoods nor the railroads have commented on the embargo proposal.

RAIL EMBARGO IN BEER STRIKE

Pittsburgh, Oct. 31 (AP)—Officials of the AFL-Teamsters Local 249 today were armed with authority to impose an embargo on all shipments arriving in Pittsburgh railroad yards "if it deemed necessary" in the prosecution of their jurisdictional fight with the CIO-United Brewery Workers.

The authority was granted "overwhelmingly" at a meeting of about 1,000 of the 6,500 members of the local last night in Northside Carnegie hall.

Officials of the teamsters said, however, that the embargo will be deferred pending a survey of the city's food supply.

Since the object of the embargo would be to prevent removal of food and other supplies from Pittsburgh railroad yards, the teamsters said that before they put it into force they wanted to ascertain whether sufficient food could be brought into the city by trucks.

The union said its proposed action was in retaliation for railroad acceptance of coal shipments, normally hauled by trucks, to three picketed Pittsburgh breweries. Neither the railroad Brotherhoods nor the railroads have commented on the embargo proposal.

Bone Deformities Traced To Foods

Harrisburg, Oct. 31 (AP)—Nutrition studies made by the state Department of Health involving 11,000 children in various parts of the state revealed "bone deformities of nutritional origin" were prevalent "through children of all economic groups."

Dr. Harry W. Weest, state secretary of health, said the survey, conducted by the state in cooperation with the Pennsylvania State college, involved observations of the food habits of representative children throughout the commonwealth.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Rev. Charles Owen Rice quit his $8,400-a-year job as rent director here today. He had held the post since August 11, 1942. Father Rice is expected to resume active direction of St. Joseph's House of Hospitality, which he founded.

What the REPUBLICAN PARTY Stands For ...

And What We Intend to DO About It

WE BELIEVE in government that is truly responsive to the wishes of the people. We are opposed to government by regulation and regimentation. We do not believe that the productive economy of the nation can be utilized for the benefit of all people so long as industry and labor are held under the thumb of a bungling bureaucracy.

WE INTEND to take government out of business because we have business and labor leaders who, acting on their own initiative, have been the most successful in the world.

OUR INDUSTRIAL AND LABOR LEADERS have demonstrated that they can get along without government interferences and without the government unfairly tipping the scales in anybody's favor.

PRODUCTION AND JOBS are the first concern of the American people. They are the key to prosperity, security and happiness. The Republican party believes in free enterprise and the necessity of directing its vital, life-giving power into channels which will benefit Americans for generations to come.

This the Republican Party Can and Will Do When You Support These Candidates on Nov. 5

PA. OBSERVES APPLE DAY ON HALLOWEEN

Harrisburg, Oct. 31 (AP)—Today—Halloween—is apple day in Pennsylvania and State Agricultural Secretary Miles Horst disclosed the 1946 production is large enough to provide nearly a bushel of apples for every man, woman and child in the state.

"Buy Pennsylvania apples now," he suggested. "The happy combination of climate and growers' skill produces apples of the highest quality and is the chief reason why the state this year ranks fourth among all states in the production of commercial apples."

Pennsylvania's apple production this year is estimated by Horst at approximately 9,230,000 bushels.

Apple Facts
To highlight the current observance of Apple Week Horst listed these "apple facts."

Adams county is the top apple producing county in Pennsylvania and in 1940 ranked 14th among all counties in the United States. Berks was 31st, York 42nd and Franklin 43rd that year.

In 1945, Adams county farms produced 1,326,102 bushels, Franklin 745,206 bushels, Berks 532,981, and York 485,978 bushels.

The Stayman usually leads all other varieties in production. Nearly 35 per cent of all Staymans grown commercially in the U. S. in 1944 came from Pennsylvania.

Largest In World
Approximately 35 per cent of all commercial apples grown in Pennsylvania this year will be processed. Pennsylvania has the largest apple processing plant in the world at Biglerville, Adams county.

Because of the high quality of Pennsylvania apples, and the extensive processing facilities, the U. S. Army during the war years obtained 40 per cent of its canned apples and applesauce from Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania in 1945 had nearly 5,250,000 apple trees of all ages.

Apples in 1943 ranked sixth in value for all major farm crops in the states, running about $12,675,000. In 1944 apples again were in sixth place with a value of $19,419,000.

Up to October 1 less than a normal amount of Pennsylvania apples had moved into storage houses, assuring a plentiful supply available for Apple Week.

ROME EMBASSY OF BRITISH IS TORN BY BOMB

By JOHN MCKNIGHT

Rome, Oct. 31 (AP)—A thundering bomb explosion which shook the city wrecked an entire wing of the British embassy early today and wounded an Italian passerby, perhaps mortally. Police and embassy officials confessed themselves without a clue as to the identity of the perpetrators.

A gaping hole reaching back for a depth of two rooms was torn into the building by the blast, resulting from two suitcases full of explosives detonated by clockwork. The heavy masonry of the block-long, three-story structure was cracked so deeply that police said part of it might have to be pulled down.

Embassy personnel escaped injury, but two Italian passersby were wounded. One of them, Nicolino Plitta, was said to have been hurt so badly he may die. Four embassy guards were thrown from their beds but were not hurt.

Windows Shattered
Windows throughout the building, on Venti Settembre street in up-town Rome, and in buildings across the street were shattered. The apartment of Ambassador Sir Noel Charles, who is away on leave, was

PROOF

Portland, Ore., (AP)—Motorist Ernest Thompson can thank the civic loyalty of Judge John Seabrook for saving him from a traffic fine.

After a week of dark days and heavy storms, Thompson said, "the sun was so bright I failed to see the traffic signal change."

Said the judge: "your excuse shows that Oregon is not always filled with rain in the fall, and for the publicity our state will get the fine will be $5—suspended."

damaged heavily.

A detective on duty at the scene hazarded the theory that dihard Fascists who strewed explosives around a half dozen Italian cities Monday on the 24th anniversary of Benito Mussolini's march on Rome might have been responsible.

Foreign Minister Pietro Nenni, who rushed to the scene at once with high police officials, issued a statement saying that the explosives were left on the embassy doorstep in two black suitcases and apparently were detonated by a clockwork mechanism.

He said a red flag, marked "danger—mines," was draped over the suitcases and that similar flags were draped on each side of the doorway.

ALIMONY SCARE ON HONEYMOON

Hollywood Oct. 31 (AP)—Clarinetist Artie Shaw and his sultry bride in a Mexican ceremony, Kathleen Winsor, ducked into town and out again last night, close on the heels of a demand from one of his four previous wives that a court reinstate an order that he pay her $2,000 a month alimony.

There was no comment from Shaw on an article in the Los Angeles Times which called attention to the fact that Actress Ava Gardner's California divorce won't be final until a year from last Friday and that California law does not recognize marriages outside the state prior to issuance of a final decree.

The bandsman's attorney, Jerome B. Rosenthal, declared: "When Shaw telephoned me, I told him I had seen in the papers that he was married and he said yes, that he'd seen that too."

LACK POWER TO BOOST RATES ON PENSION FUND

Harrisburg, Oct. 31 (AP)—Attorney General James H. Duff has ruled that the state public school employees' retirement fund lacks authority to increase the rates or reduce pensions of teachers in service before September 1, 1946.

Duff gave the opinion yesterday to Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, who asked for the ruling after teachers and other organizations had swamped the retirement board with protests against any change in rates or more.

Three-way Tie For Hockey Loop Lead

(By The Associated Press)
A three way tie exists today for first place in the American Hockey league's western division among Indianapolis, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh moved into a deadlock with Indianapolis last night by defeating Buffalo and Philadelphia respectively while the Caps were idle. All three teams now have nine points apiece.

The Hornets trounced Philadelphia, 10-4 and established a league record when they powdered eight tally tables which would reduce their retirement payments.

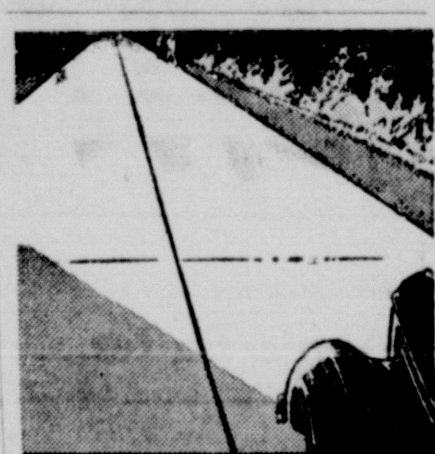

The attorney general held the board could change the rate of contribution to the fund by new teachers but asserted "we do not believe that the formula or the rules can be changed in the middle of the game" for these employed before September 1.

Changed Tables
"School teachers are employees of the various school districts throughout the Commonwealth and enter service under a definite contract," he held.

"Part of that contract is the law of the Commonwealth with reference to their joining the school employees' retirement system. The law is mandatory and they may not become employees of a school district or any institution to which the act applies, without becoming members of the retirement system."

The board, after an actual study required by law every five years, increased the contribution rates for new teachers, adopted new mortality tables for all teachers, tending to reduce annuities, but gave old teachers an opportunity to make lump sum payments to keep up the scale of payments.

Duff held the board could only change the tables for new teachers and that it also lacked the authority to change the rates paid by the state or local school districts. Lump sum payments also were barred.

HIGH GRIDDERS IN BIG TESTS THIS WEEKEND

Harrisburg, Oct. 31 (AP)—The state's scholastic grid leaders head into November with conference crowns still at stake and long winning streaks in jeopardy in all sections.

The standout clash of the weekend occurs in the west where Vandergrift and New Kensington, two unbeaten contenders for the WPIAL championship, clash in a game that has attracted such interest that the rivals moved to more spacious Forbes Field in order to accommodate the crowds.

Victory will send one team zooming close to the crown relinquished by Donora after a two-year rule, while the vanquished rival will drop out of the title fight. A tie may eliminate both, since Altoona, Ambridge, and Duquesne are also unbeaten and very much in the battle for this year's championship.

goals into the Rocket goal in the second period. The previous mark of seven goals in one frame was held by six clubs.

The Barons blanked Buffalo, circuit champions, 2-0. In the only other game, the Springfield Indians hung up their third straight win by nosing out the Hershey Bears, eastern division pacesetters, 3-2.

GOV. MARTIN

G.I. BILLS

Why Veterans Are Supporting The Democratic Candidates In Pennsylvania

At Harrisburg, October 5th, Governor Edward Martin offered this four-point program for the veterans:

1. Obtain a job in which you can assert your independence.
2. Take part in Government...
3. Interest yourself in Community Life...
4. Take an Active Part in Church Work...

The veterans hardly need Governor Martin to tell them to go to church; and the Governor can rest assured they will play an important part in Pennsylvania's future government on election day, November 5th.

Despite the hundreds of millions of State surplus, Pennsylvania's mental hospitals were so neglected by the Martin Administration that the Veterans Administration has refused to permit veterans to enter Byberry Hospital for treatment of war-induced illness.

There has been no State action for veterans' housing, although hundreds of millions of dollars of surplus funds lie idle in the State Treasury.

A State GI Bill of Rights introduced by Democrats was killed in Committee during the 1945 session of the Legislature on direct personal orders of Governor Martin.

No soldiers' bonus legislation has been passed in Pennsylvania... other States already have passed State bonus legislation.

You CAN "assert your independence." Support and vote the Democratic Program for veterans.

- (1) Homes constructed by privately financed State Authority at prices veterans can afford to buy or rent.
- (2) Housing at educational centers.
- (3) Liberal veterans' bonus.
- (4) A State GI Bill of Rights, supplementing the generous provisions of the Federal Bill, including a guarantee of education, hospitalization, physical rehabilitation.

Colonel John S. Rice, Democratic candidate for Governor, a veteran of two World Wars; Sgt. Al Schmid, candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs, a hero of Guadalcanal, and all the other candidates on the Democratic ticket are pledged to this program. They need a Democratic Legislature to carry it out.

merical potato growers. It was the opinion of the potato group that acreage should be increased from 142,000 to 145,000 since Pennsylvania produces much less than the consumers of this state will demand in 1947. It was the opinion of the committee that price supports be maintained for 1947 but that these price supports become available for those farmers who were willing to live within farm goals.
The committee expressed the opinion that during years of normal production, prices be supported at a high parity level but in years of great surpluses such as experienced in 1946, that prices be supported at a lower level, possibly 75 per cent instead of the 90 per cent formula used during the present program year. For farmers who entered the field of potato production such as veterans returning from the service, county PMA committees should be authorized to allot goals to these new cooperators from reserves surrendered by other farmers.
It was further suggested that consumption of potatoes be encouraged through the support of a stable price to consumers wherein a price incentive would encourage consumers to utilize a high percentage of potatoes in their daily menus.
Poultry Goals Same
The Poultry committee recommended that no individual farm goals be set up for poultry in the state. They recommended that price supports be maintained for eggs and poultry and held the present demand for eggs and poultry is in keeping with the present supply. It was therefore recommended that the

GUILDS DELAY WORK STOPPAGE
Philadelphia, Oct. 31 (P)—A work stoppage by members of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) units at the Philadelphia record and the Camden (N.J.) Courier-Post, originally scheduled to begin at noon today, has been postponed for one week.
Andrew Khinoy, president of Local 10, A.N.G., said the two guild units, meeting last night in a closed session, voted 234 to 135 to accept an offer by top CIO leadership to join in negotiations with the papers' management in an effort to settle the dispute.
The Guild originally sought a $100 a week minimum for experienced reporters but subsequently scaled down its demands to $68. The Guild said the company offered a $68 weekly minimum and later raised it to $75 while offering a five per cent night differential against the Guild's 10 per cent demand.
Khinoy said approval of the postponement resolution carried with it rejection of a company increase of from $5 to $10. The management of the two papers made no comment on last night's action. Contracts with the Philadelphia-Camden Guild units expire today. The Guild previously had authorized a work stoppage if new contracts were not obtained.
Alaska is larger than the three largest states combined — Texas, California and Montana.

News Of Special Interest To The Residents Of Emmitsburg And Vicinity

SECOND TITLE
AT STAKE FOR
EMMITSBURG 9

Emmitsburg's diamond, squad after one of the longest seasons on record, will bring to a close Sunday afternoon, weather providing, a season that began last April and may end with the team holding championships in both leagues in which it competed.

The Emmitsburgians won the Adams county league championship September 28 and then started to work on winning the title of the Penn-Maryland league.

Fighting all the way, the Marylanders finally downed McSherrystown in the third game of a three-game playoff for the right to meet Hanover in the finals.

Banquet Planned

With rain and bad weather, the season continued until the present. Now with Hanover visitor 1 to 0 last Sunday and with Emmitsburg winning two Sundays before that in the first game, the final contest of the long season is ready to be played.

The winner of Sunday's game will be the champion of the Penn-Maryland loop. Emmitsburg hopes to make its title twins by capturing the game to be played at Emmitsburg.

After that the season will officially end with a banquet to be held for the players.

1,000 AT HOLY
NAME SERVICE

Favored by perfect weather, the public demonstration marking the Feast of Christ the King, was held Sunday afternoon at Mount St. Mary's college, under auspices of the Central Maryland section of the Holy Name Society.

Thirteen units from as many parishes in Frederick, Carroll, Washington and Montgomery counties participated. The procession formed on Echo Field, the units being headed by the Francis Scott Key post drum corps. Richard J. McCullough was parade marshal. In addition to private cars, three buses transported the senior and junior societies and members of their families from St. John's, Frederick.

Following the outdoor demonstration, participated in by approximately 1,000, religious ceremonies climaxed with a solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament took place in the college chapel.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. Joseph P. O'Donnell, associate professor of philosophy at the Mount. The event was the first public celebration since before the war.

SURPRISE PARTY

A surprise birthday party was held Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Starnier in honor of Mrs. Starnier's birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Murray Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Maxell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Daugherty and daughter, Susan, Glenn Gonder, Union Bridge; Kenneth Eckert and Roland Mackley of Taneytown and Betty Lou, Ann and Frances Starnier.

Emmitsburg Druggist And Wife Meet Drug Firm Head

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Houser of Emmitsburg are shown above with Justin Dart (right), president of the United Rexall Drug company. The picture was taken at the first regional convention of independent Rexall druggists to be held since before the war. One thousand independent Rexall druggists from New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Washington, D. C., attended the meeting held two weeks ago in Atlantic City, N. J.

Druggist Houser, the only registered pharmacist within a ten-mile area surrounding Emmitsburg, has conducted the Houser drug store at Emmitsburg since 1923. The store joined the Rexall system about seven years ago.

Active in Maryland druggist organizations, Houser has for the past five years been a member of the executive committee of the Maryland Pharmaceutical Association made up of druggists from throughout the state.

NEWS ITEMS OF
ST. JOSEPH'S HS

A pep rally was held recently in the St. Joseph high school when the Student body for the first time enlisted in the Catholic Review Drive. Two representatives from each class gave pep talks to their fellow-classmen, urging them to obtain subscriptions. The first-year boys challenged the boys of any other class to get more subscriptions than the freshmen. This challenge was immediately accepted by the juniors.

The October meeting of El Club Loyola was opened with the recitation of the Hail Mary in Spanish. Dolores Miller read the articles of the club's constitution which the committee has completed to date. This report was followed by a brief sketch of the life of Saint Ignatius Loyola, patron of the organization, given by Thomas Gammache. The remainder of the meeting was spent singing Spanish songs, both melodies from Spain and current Latin-American tunes.

The first meeting of the Junior Valley Forum was held recently. Plans for an assembly, which the Junior Valley Forum will present in February were discussed.

BUSY WEEK FOR
GIRL SCOUTS

The big event of the fall season in the Girl Scout circles is the current seven-day observance dedicated to the memory of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States. Emmitsburg Girl Scout Troop 1 began Girl Scout Week by attending their respective churches in uniform. The following aspects of the Girl Scout program are being highlighted each day: Monday, Homemakers Day; Tuesday, Citizenship Day; Wednesday, Health and Safety Day; Thursday, International Friendship Day; Friday, Arts and Crafts Day; Saturday, Out of Doors Day.

The fundamental aim of Girl Scouting is the development of each girl into a well rounded individual and an intelligently participating member of her own group and her community now and in the future.

Girl Scouting offers a girl interesting recreational activities, informal relationship with older people, fun with others of her own age and work in a group small enough for each girl to take a responsible part, scout leaders said.

Girl Scouting tries to show a girl how to use in a practical way what she has already learned, to encourage her to discover abilities and appreciations as yet untrained and to help her develop a healthy attitude toward life and a sense of true values.

Mount St. Mary's football game Saturday with Lebanon Valley college will be played on the Pennsylvania's home field at Annville, instead of at Emmitsburg, college officials announced today.

Change of location for the grid clash originally slated for the Mount was occasioned by the religious holidays of All Saint's Day and All Soul's day falling Thursday and Friday. RICE ATTACKS 'DO-NOTHINGS' AT HARRISBURG

(By The Associated Press)

Democratic candidates for state-wide office attending a $100-a-plate dinner at Philadelphia last night sponsored by the Democratic state committee criticised the Republican party for what John S. Rice, Democratic nominee for governor termed "eight years of do-nothing administration at Harrisburg."

Rice declared that the past two Republican administrations had "left Pennsylvania's government in very bad shape."

He cited what he described as GOP failures in providing programs for state housing, hard-surfaced rural roads and proper mental hospital care.

Speaking at the same dinner, U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, seeking his third term in the Senate, said there are 58,000,000 persons now employed in the United States. He predicted that in the near future the figure will reach 60,000,000, a figure that he added had been claimed by the Republicans as "a physical and mathematical impossibility."

Declaring that the Democratic party has made "great progress" in reconversion and in writing the peace, Guffey said a Republican victory next Tuesday "would disrupt that progress, both at home and abroad."

Rice called upon all educational institutions in Pennsylvania which have students eligible to vote to allow them to return to their homes next Tuesday for that purpose without being penalized by "cuts" from classes.

8-Point Program

He said "this seems proper this year because of the large number of older students, particularly veterans, who are attending classes."

In another statement Rice said that since the Republicans have announced an eight-point program for education in Pennsylvania, I also wish to announce an eight-point program.

"The first point," said Rice, "is the defeat of the Republican state leadership that has placed Pennsylvania 19th among the states in education. When that is done," he added "the other seven points won't be necessary."

Western Maryland Scrubs Here Friday

Coaches Paul Bloomingdale and Jack Shainline will send their Gettysburg college jayvee gridders out for their second straight victory Friday afternoon when the Western Maryland reserves will be met in the Bullets' only home game of the season.

The contest will start at 3 o'clock. Starters for the Bullets will probably include Yingst, Schlegelmich, Reese, Rock, Moser, Ressler and McCauslin on the line with Way, Cervino, Alterholt and Pitzer, backs.

Public Ownership Of Utilities Urged

Pittsburgh, Oct. 31 (AP)—City Solicitor Anne X. Alpern declared yesterday that Pittsburgh would derive great savings and service from public ownership of its utilities.

In a talk before the Centre Avenue Branch YWCA, Miss Alpern said:

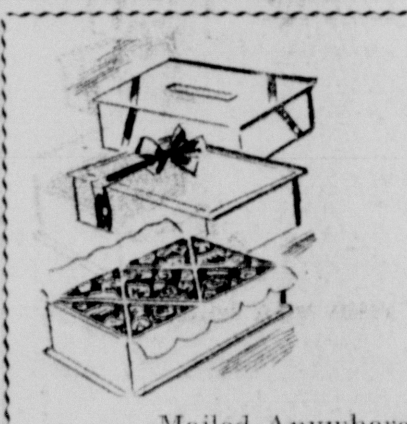

"An electric utility is a very productive field, easily run, and public ownership would result in lower rates and efficient service."

Pittsburgh's experience in recent power strikes has made it more aware of the importance of public ownership of utilities, Miss Alpern said, and cited "public ownership of 90 per cent of the nation's water companies" as proof that municipalities would have no trouble operating other utilities.

"The supply of a city gas, electricity and power is essentially public business and it would be best for the public to handle them directly rather than through absentee owners," she continued.

LEWIS SEEMS SURE WINNER IN WAGE FIGHT

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—John L. Lewis appeared certain today to emerge from his fight with the government a bigger winner than ever.

With Lewis still holding the whip hand—backed by the tacit but nonetheless real threats of another strike by his 400,000 soft coal miner—all signs point to eventual new government concessions in the negotiations scheduled to start tomorrow.

Whether a walkout will intervene remains to be seen, but here are the signposts that say the United Mine workers' chief in the end will get at least part of what he wants.

Has Won First Round

1. Lewis apparently has won the first round—getting the government to talk higher wages with him.

The officials who are going to negotiate with him—Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug and Navy Capt. N. H. Collisson, federal coal mines administrator—still haven't agreed to reopen the present contract, but they say they are willing to discuss anything that is on Lewis' mind.

Others in the administration side with Lewis in his contention that the pact can be reopened on 10 days notice and ended in 30 days. Lewis started the ball rolling October 21.

Eager To Avert Strike

2. The government is anxious to avert a coal strike in November, with winter's chill approaching. And the administration is well aware of what would happen under the miners' historic no-contract no-work stand should Lewis cancel the agreement on schedule, November 20.

Moreover, any move to invoke the jail penalties of the Smith-Connally war labor dispute act against Lewis in the event of a walkout might only prolong the controversy because of the unswerving manner in which the miners always have stood behind their chief.

3. Top administration advisers acknowledge that they are searching for a satisfactory pay concession to Lewis—yet one which would not upset the labor-management apple cart and set a pattern for other union demands.

In other words, Lewis has indicated clearly that a strike for higher pay may occur—even during government operation — and the government has just as clearly indicated it wants to avoid one. The answer seems certain, therefore, to be: pay concessions for the miners.

DUFF WARNS OF INFLATION; SEE GOP CONGRESS

(By The Associated Press)

Attorney General James H. Duff, Republican candidate for governor, said last night "the plague of industrial unrest" in the country is "destroying economic security, undermining government authority and by restricting production is sowing the seeds that will result in unrestrained inflation."

Duff declared that labor warfare is bringing "untold suffering and incalculable loss" to the American people.

He said in a broadcast over a state-wide network that "it will be my purpose, if elected governor, to add the full support of my administration to the creation and adoption by management and labor of any program which will protect the rights of all our people, management, labor and the public and thereby establish and maintain peace in industry."

Predicts GOP Congress

Governor Martin, seeking the U. S. Senate seat now held by U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, said an insolvent government becomes "a socialistic government" where dictatorship takes control and "freedom of the individual is lost."

He declared "a government can go broke the same as an individual" and cited what he termed the "huge federal debt" of more than $256,000,000, pointing out that it must be paid "if we are to remain a free people."

At Philadelphia, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) predicted that the Republicans will win 11 senatorial seats in the election next Tuesday, giving the GOP a 51-45 lead in the 80th Congress. Taft declared that the House will go Republican by a safe majority, and added the election of a GOP dominated Congress "will halt the Democratic trend toward totalitarianism."

Train Hits Autos At 80 MPH.; 5 Dead

Lancaster, N. Y., Oct. 31 (AP)—Five persons were killed last night when the Advance Commodore Vanderbilt of the New York Central railroad struck two automobiles at a crossing.

Dead are Coletta R. Weber, 15, James F. Weber, 18, and Leo J. Weber, 21, Jack H. Stiegler, 18, and George H. Lanthier, Jr., 20, all of Lancaster.

Police said the two cars, parked abreast, awaited clearance of an eastbound passenger train and proceeded together across the four-track right-of-way.

The westbound New York-Chicago Commodore struck the two cars as they passed over the second track. A railroad spokesman said the train was traveling at its 80-miles per hour time table speed.

Chapter 11

When Franz entered the drawing room Stephanie smiled at him from the fire stool.

"You look beautiful tonight," he said with such sober sincerity she deliberately laughed to hide the quick rush of tears. Conrad stopped pulling at his knuckles to give her a searching glance. He thought, she's breaking, when Franz is gone I must take her away.

"But you look terrible in that mask Franz, take it off. We have so little time to memorize your face. Come, I'll untie it for you."

He sat beside her. "You've had years to memorize my face."

"But it's only the last few days that make an impression." There was a catch in her voice as she deftly untied the tapes. "That's better." As casually as she pushed the hair back from his forehead her action disturbed him. She could almost read the rushing confusion of his thought.

"I'll miss you when I'm gone," he mumbled awkwardly, "miss you both." Even then he experienced a pang of the loneliness that was in store for him, forced as he would be into the intimacies of Dana's life.

"You must try to forget about us," said Stephanie slowly. "We must become unreal."

"I'll miss you," he repeated. "That will become unreal too, because as time goes by Niel Dana alive . . . or dead will become more like Franz Steiner to us than you in America. If you're taking on his life, gradually he'll take yours in our minds." If it was a cruel thing to say, she had steeled herself to be cruel. A strangled sound broke from him and his hand closed over hers.

But suddenly her hand trembled and all the color went from her face. With an angry exclamation she pushed her away from him.

"Have care Franz!" cried Conrad leaping to his feet.

"She said it deliberately to work on my nerves." His voice was harsh.

"Are you so egotistical," she cried, "you can't believe your own emotions!" He whipped the mask out of her fingers.

"Don't waste your famous imagination on me, Stephanie. I'll go up for the American, too bad you can't tell him your morbid fancies, he'd be amused." He bowed with mocking gallantry. "You don't give your husband much credit for courage, my dear."

She stared after him, Conrad gripping her shoulders from behind.

"For a minute," she said brokenly, "he knew I was right. If he thinks of it enough perhaps . . ."

"Let it be Stephanie," begged Conrad. "It will do no good." She turned in his arms and he was startled by the angry tears in her eyes. It crossed his mind for the first time that she might do something to frustrate Franz.

When Niel came down he headed straight for Stephanie and catching the sudden panic in her eyes he smiled directly into them the way one does with children.

"If my mother could see you in that dress she'd paint you."

"Oh, is she an artist?"

He laughed, "Only by courtesy and by fits and starts, but she's good at portraiture. . . . Dad taught her a lot."

"He was a wonderful painter." Then she stopped, shocked at what she'd unwittingly said.

"How did you know?" His eyes narrowed a little.

"I . . . I've seen some of his work."

"You have some good pictures in this room, mind if I take a look at them?" But the look on her face stopped him. "I wish you wouldn't look at me like that," he said quietly.

"Like what?"

"As if I was about to walk the plank, it makes me feel uncomfortable." Her eyes closed a little.

"Surely you're mistaken."

He shook his head. "You looked that way when you first saw me, it shocked me then and it does now . . . makes me feel there's something uncanny happening to me."

"I'm sorry," he said, "but your hands were trembling. He turned his back a little more to the others to hide her face from them then he asked quickly.

"Why don't you want me to look at the pictures?" She turned so pale he thought she was going to faint but she bit into her lower lip.

"Because they . . . almost all of them were painted by your father." It was his turn to be rocked back on his heels. He thought, time is all I need, just a little more time and I'd know what it's all about.

"I'll get you a drink," she said and left him for a few minutes.

They touched glasses and drank. "Why don't you help me, Stephanie?" he murmured unconsciously of having used her first name. As he watched her drain her glass a thrill of excitement rose in him.

"I don't know how without endangering Conrad."

"A note to Berlin would do it."

"I'll think about it." Out of the corner of his eye he saw Franz move toward them.

"Laugh," he said quietly, and she did so—instinctively, with such gaiety it startled him and he felt sick with pity for her.

"Franz," she said, "you should hear about Mr. Dana's dog, an amazing creature."

"Really," said Steiner politely. "What breed?"

"Aisaton," answered Niel.

"Clever dogs, but too big for the city."

"He's at my mother's place in Albany."

"A good place for him."

Niel wondered what made Conrad chuckle. But Franz knew why and it amused him; Stephanie might have waited till they were alone to mention the dog instead of tossing it at him like a grenade. A pet dog could cause him a lot of trouble.

The dinner bell rang, only once, but in Niel's head it rang again and again. He must get the knife at the beginning or the end of the meal. On the way he decided on the beginning. Joseph was pouring ice water at Conrad's place as they entered. Conrad drew out Stephanie's chair then Joseph moved between Steiner and Niel as they sat down. He cast a flashing glance at Conrad pushing in Stephanie's chair and smiling down at her—now was the time!

Chapter 12

Under cover of his napkin he slipped the knife off the table and as he shook out the napkin transferred it to his right trouser pocket. For a brief second Stephanie's eyes held his, as if only the two of them existed. When she shifted her glance he could feel a pounding in his ears. She had seen. Now Joseph was at his elbow, a piece of ice chinked into his glass then the trickle of water, then the trickle stopped as Joseph noticed his knife was missing—then it started again. He watched it fill his glass. As Joseph moved away he struggled to keep his eyes on Stephanie's face. She smiled a crooked little half smile. He felt more than heard Joseph at his side again but kept his eyes on Stephanie and when he finally glanced down the knife was replaced. He wondered if Joseph had counted the remaining knives.

Unlike the previous evening dinner passed quickly, pleasantly though he was well aware how they covertly watched him. But it didn't alarm him, the feel of the knife in his pocket gave him hope and animated his conversation. They talked with such enthusiasm Stephanie now and again reminded them to eat. She seemed content to listen. A few times when Steiner succeeded in driving a point he looked at her as if to make certain of her approval. Niel thought it strange that he should be so anxious to make a favorable impression on her.

Back in the drawing room there was none of the previous hostile tension. Niel asked her to sing and Steiner quickly pulled out the bench and after selecting a few sheets of music turned to him:

"Please play for her."

Time seemed to be standing still for them while she sang. Her voice was sweetly toned, it took some of the secret fear out of him. Above the piano was a black and white crayon portrait of Stefan Steiner and in the corner he saw the slanting lines of his own father's signature—Francis Dana. The letters imprinted themselves across his brain. It was too impossible to believe that anything terrible could happen to him in this house, some part of him belonging here. Then he felt the knife in his pocket, no false sense of security must prevent his escaping.

Near the end of her second song her voice wavered and she stopped, her eyes riveted on the doorway. Then Niel heard Joseph's cracked, agitated voice:

"Herr Conrad, General Von Beck is here."

Steiner swore with low, violent passion and Conrad strode over to the piano.

"Come with me Dana." His face too was dark with anger as he took Niel's arm to propel him to the side entrance. As they turned up the back staircase Niel caught across the drawing room and caught a brief glimpse of a tall, black haired woman and a broad, square built man in evening dress.

Conrad took him to his room and said good-night in a hurried, pre-occupied manner that stilled Niel's questions. He stood for a minute trying to remember if he'd ever heard the name Von Beck, wondering why he felt so urgently the necessity of getting away before something happened. Then he switched on the light of the closet to examine its ceiling. Age darkened the line of lathes like bones through the skin of an old woman so that the broader parallel spaces betrayed the line of the floorbeams. He drew out the knife, kissed the blade and set it on the shelf while he undressed.

Before starting to work he left the closet door open in the event Conrad or Steiner might come for him. It required all his strength to score a line from floorbeam to floor beam then along the edges of the beams to complete a rectangle large enough to give passage for his shoulders. Under his aching forefinger the blade quivered, and now and again he gripped the edge of the shelf to recover his balance. The plaster crumbled and slivered away from the line of his cutting, pittering to shelves and floor, almost blinding him. Sweat broke across his forehead and he stopped to rub his strained wrist and fingers. The sudden stillness seemed full of watching eyes. So much remained he decided to make long cuts through the plaster, so he closed the door and worked in a nerve wracking succession of cutting and listening.

Downstairs, as Glia Neumann greeted Stephanie it was impossible to say which provided the contrast. In fact they were so different it would be safe to say they had much in common. Seeing them together for the first time disturbed Franz.

"Forgive me for coming uninvited," she apologized, "but Paul insisted and it's so dull in the village," answered Stephanie pleasantly.

As much as Franz was disturbed at their being together, the General was pleased. It amused him to propel people into situations. He beamed at Stephanie and kissed her hand. Von Beck always kissed her hand when they met and always her eyes fastened on his bald spot and she thought of beer and sausages. In the past it used to make her feel a little bitter; because he was definitely not a beer and sausage general.

His face was too heavy to be handsome and the colorless fringe of eyelash lent his small blue eyes a staring effect, a tide of redding flesh rolled under his collar but these defects were rendered almost non-existent by powerful, commanding figure and colossal vanity. In the company of most women he resorted to an old-fashioned gallantry, charming if one didn't suspect a pose. Stephanie in particular affected him in his way and he kept up the pretense because there was no alternative. With him a woman was all important or of no importance but Stephanie didn't fit his classifications so he avoided her as much as possible.

2 FARM LOAN GROUPS BEING MERGED TODAY

Harrisburg, Oct. 31 (AP)—The present farm security administration and the emergency crop and feed loan service will be merged in Pennsylvania tomorrow at a meeting of both agencies to form what is to be known as the Farmer Home Administration.

Dillard B. Lasseter, administrator of the newly organized group said the merger will enable the state's small farmers to get a better break in their credit dealings with the federal government.

He said the new lending agency will "mark a milestone in the nation's agriculture pattern" putting the rural landholder on an even basis with the city dweller for the first time.

Establishment of the new agency was ordered by Congress under provisions of the Farmers Home Administration act of 1946, explained Lasseter. Under its terms the employees, assets, and all facilities of the two federal lending agencies will be consolidated and the new agency will offer farmers a direct lending service that will combine the best features of each, but will be hedged with safeguards to prevent overstepping congressional directives.

New Credit Plan
The direct lending program will follow closely the farm security pattern for operations. Operating credit will be available for periods up to five years and at five per cent interest. Direct loans for farm ownership will be made for 40 years at 3 1/2 per cent interest.

Both types of loans will be available only to farmers who cannot secure reasonable credit through other sources such as banks. County committees of three farmers will certify the need for FHA loans and also study the application to make sure the borrower has the experience, training and background to operate a farm business successfully.

A new plan in agricultural credit was set up in the act. It provides for the guarantee of mortgages written by standard loaning agencies or private individuals when the loans are on the same terms as the direct long-term FHA ownership loans.

SEES DISASTER IF GOP WINS

(By The Associated Press)

U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey, seeking a third term at the head of the Democratic ticket, said at Wilkes-Barre last night that a Republican victory on November 5 "would be one of the greatest disasters in American history."

"No one who has followed the Republican campaign can doubt that they would fall upon the entire structure of Roosevelt reform and tear it apart with a fury born of long frustration and burning hatred," declared Guffey.

He declared that the Democratic party in Pennsylvania is still the Roosevelt party and added he is proud that his record "of Roosevelt support has been so outstanding that the people who attacked Roosevelt are now attacking me."

John U. Shroyer, former Secretary of Highways in Martin's cabinet, asked last night in a radio broadcast over a Harrisburg station "can anyone in his right mind believe the Republicans will do anything for veterans after election day?"

He said "the smug and self righteous potentates who rule the Republican party from on high, feel that there is no need to cater to the veteran voters." Shroyer declared that "it takes important failures to make a man vote against the candidates of a party to which he has been faithful for many years."

Auto Gets Deer; When Hunters Fail

Cambridge, Ohio, Oct. 31 (AP)—John A. Marshall of Valencia, Pa., and three Pennsylvania friends failed to get a buck during a two-week hunting trip in Canada but killed a two-point, 130-pound deer yesterday on U. S. Route 22 four miles east of here.

Marshall's car ran the deer down. A deputy game protector ordered Marshall to give the deer to the Guernsey county children's home.

Urge Arbitration In Hotel Strike

Pittsburgh, Oct. 31 (AP)—A strong recommendation that arbitration be adopted to settle the month old hotel strike here was studied today by managements of eight struck hotels and the AFL Hotel and Restaurant Workers Alliance.

The recommendation was made late yesterday by a three-man conciliation panel which reported both parties in the wage dispute were hopelessly deadlocked. The approximately 2,000 hotel employees seek a 20 per cent wage increase.

Wife Need Not Live With Mother-In-Law

Philadelphia, Oct. 31 (AP)—Pennsylvania's superior court has ruled that a wife can not be required to live with her mother-in-law and her "refusal to do so is not a wilful and malicious desertion."

The court's decision yesterday came on an appeal by Allen L. H. Ziegenfus, 31-year-old safety engineer at Radio Corporation of America, Camden, N. J., from the decision of the Lehigh county court which refused to grant him a divorce from his wife, Ann, 28.

Ziegenfus originally contended that his wife refused to live with this mother and that such action constituted "desertion."

Mrs. Ziegenfus said she refused to live with her husband because he failed to provide living quarters she deemed proper for herself and her son, David, now eight. The superior court, in upholding Mrs. Ziegenfus' claim, said Ziegenfus "habitually relied on others to care for his wife and child."

MORE PRICE LIDS YANKED OFF BY NEW OPA ACTION

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—OPA yanked price lids off a host of things ranging from radios to funerals today as the agency rushed final paper work on its "master" decontrol list.

The emphasis today was on small items that go into furnishing a home. The next list will apply largely to business and industrial goods. Its scheduled Friday announcement may be delayed.

In addition to radios of all types, price ceilings ceased to apply last night to electric phonographs, kitchenware and glassware, lamps and small electrical appliances, all clocks and scores of other types of "consumer durable goods."

"Unimportant" The agency said all things on the three-page list either were in balance between supply and demand or unimportant to business or living costs.

It emphasized that ceilings still remain on household mechanical refrigerators, washing machines, electric ranges, vacuum cleaners, cooking and heating stoves, floor coverings as well as all major items of furniture and bedding.

Among the other electrical items also freed are irons, heaters, non-automatic toasters, shavers, heating pads and portable lamps other than those used by industry.

Pots And Pans Too Most pots and pans also were decontrolled along with such varied items as funeral supplies, including caskets and burial vaults, wheel chairs and crutches, and farm and garden tools.

Released as not important to business or living costs were:

Typewriters and adding machines; household sewing machines and dishwashers; hand-operated carpet sweepers and refrigerators and cabinets that require ice; clothes wringers, ironing boards and washboards; bicycles, tricycles and scooters; and all office furniture and equipment.

Murray, Utah, (AP)—Ernest Hill, 65-year-old blind retired barber, had trout for breakfast today, part of his catch of five beauties with which he closed the 1946 season yesterday. Patience does the rest."

Refuse To Dismiss Armour Co. Charges

Philadelphia, Oct. 31 (AP)—A motion by Armour & Co., Chicago meat packing firm for dismissal of government charges of conspiracy and forced tie-in sales in violation of OPA regulations has been denied by U. S. District Judge Guy K. Bard.

Following denial of the motion yesterday, two divisional executives of Armour said the company had no policy of compelling customers to purchase such items as eggs, peanut butter and beef extract in order to obtain scarce commodities such as meat and butter.

Raymond A. Blake, of Conshohocken, Pa., a sales supervisor for Armour, said some of the items previously mentioned as having been forced on customers actually were in sharp demand.

John Dwyer, Ardmore, Pa., in charge of Armour's dairy and poultry division in their area, testified that there was an extreme shortage of dairy products during the period of the reputed tie-in sales and Armour "had to go out and buy eggs x x x to meet customer demands."

GETTING DOWN TO CASES FOR PEACE WORK

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

The war of words has attained a volume which is difficult to digest all at once, but suggesting that there can't be much more to say before the nations get down to cases.

Stalin, Molotov and Churchill—each doing some blasting and each doing some purring—have joined with lesser voices of the United Nations to lay the issue on the table.

It's a strange new business, this approach to settlement through the internal press and radio. Open diplomacy which would surprise even a Wilson. Appeals to peoples, rather than to governments, but with one people—the Russian—barred from the debate or so enthralled by their own government as to minimize whatever little part of outside opinion might reach them.

Churchill, although in retreat regarding his suggestion that Russia had 200 divisions in middle Europe, set the fire which smoked out statements from Russia that she doesn't have as many troops in occupied countries as believed, and that she is willing to talk about a general arms cut. This latter revelation, by Mr. Molotov, is the one entirely new approach injected in to the debate in some time.

Stalin said he had 60 incomplete Soviet divisions in Eastern Europe and that these were to be reduced to 40 soon. Division strength varies greatly, even within one country's army. The prewar Russian infantry was about 15,000 men. Some later went to 25,000. There is no way of our knowing, but on the basis of Stalin's statement the number of Red troops in middle Europe should seem to run from 900,000 to 1,200,000, still 100,000 to 400,000 more than the combined British and American forces. The British have probably 150,000 additional in Greece and the Middle East. (Incidentally, the British give out some figures on their troop dispositions, but the United States is secretive. Figures from various sources indicate they each have about 600,000 troops on foreign ground.)

This business of military support for diplomacy is, along with the United Nations veto and the atom bomb, a leading cause of dissension between the powers. With Stalin apparently moving toward agreement with America on making the American plan to save the veto through restricting and defining its use, this military situation suggests one barely possible way around the other big snag in the atomic proposals. Molotov continues to harp on the U. S. refusal to destroy her bombs immediately.

There has seemed to be no room for compromise on this point, the U. S. insisting that she cannot lay herself open until the whole problem of bomb manufacture is under an international control that is not merely projected, but actually working.

It would take a lot to change that. The only conceivable inducement would seem to be a reduction in the arms of other nations to a point where, even with the development of an atomic bomb of their own, they would be without sufficient corollary weapons for aggression.

The possibility of such a development seems so remote as to be almost invisible. The whole trend of modern thinking is toward strength for peace, toward collective force against aggression, and toward self-defense first of all. But one cannot help remembering that Molotov, in mentioning a general reduction of arms, is harking back toward an idea proposed by Russia at Geneva

ONLY 10 SEATS SURE FOR GOP

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Democrats already have 67 seats locked up with unopposed candidates against only 10 assured for the Republicans in next Tuesday's before World War II—total disarmament.

battle of ballots for control of the House of Representatives.

Nevertheless, not since 1931, when they lost control, have Republicans been so keen on their chances—nor the Democrats more determined to stop them.

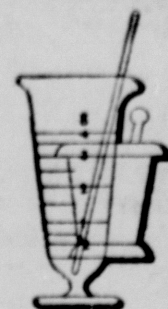

At state are all but three of the 435 House seats. Those three already have been filled in Maine's election in September. With control goes the speakership, scores of choice patronage jobs, the chairmanships and domination of all

House committees, and the power generally to direct the course of legislation.

A strong psychological asset is also at stake, for not in half a century has the party that won control of the House in an off-year election failed to elect a President two years later.

For a bare House majority, 218 seats are required. In the present House there are 241 Democratic seats including six vacancies; 192 Republican and 2 minor party.

BYRNES STUDIES REQUESTED 'OK' ON B-29 TRIP

By GRAHAM HOVEY
Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes today sought the answer to this ticklish question tossed at him by the War Department: should he approve a round-the-world flight by a fleet of army B-29 bombers?

State Department officials regard the problem as delicate for several reasons. First, they say the Army Air Forces put Byrnes on the spot by announcing October 8—without consulting the state department—that eight to 24 of the big bombers would make the flight "if the state department approves."

Actually, the formal request for permission to carry out the project reached Byrnes' desk only late yesterday.

See Attempt to "Edge In"
Then, some department officials believe that since the end of the war, both the army and navy on occasion have attempted to edge into state's field of charting American foreign policy. They regard the projected B-29 flight as the latest of these attempts.

In this connection, there is a strong desire by many high-level state department officials to avoid any act that could be called "sword rattling." They believe any large scale demonstrations of American military might could be exploited—particularly by Russia—to discredit this country's motives in international dealings.

Most state department officials say they believe the answer to just one question will determine Byrnes' stand on the matter: Would such a flight at the present time—when the United Nations assembly is meeting and the Big Four Foreign Ministers are about to convene for final action on European peace treaties—be an asset or a detriment to United States foreign policy?

RALLY WELL ATTENDED
About 200 residents of Emmitsburg and adjoining districts attended a Democratic rally last Friday night in the Lutheran parish hall, when Arch McDonald, candidate for Congress, delivered the principal address and all of the local candidates were introduced.

National Anthem

1779. He was the son of John Roes Key, an officer in the army of the revolution. He was sent to St. John's college, at Annapolis, the capital of his native state, to be educated. After he was through with school he remained at Annapolis, taking up the study of law under Judge Jeremiah Townley Chase of that place.

Having completed his legal studies he was admitted to the bar at Annapolis in 1801. The same year, returning to his native county, he commenced the practice of law in Frederick county.

A local feature, wrote Mr. McClean, was attracting attention in that neighborhood at that time. Frederick county was joined at Mason and Dixon's line by York county, Pa. York county was of great extent. The inhabitants of the western end were compelled to travel fifty and sixty miles to reach the county seat. It had become necessary to divide York county and form a new county of the western portion.

Joins County Bar

Proceedings were begun in 1800 to effect the formation of a new county which was named after the president in office—Adams—the same year it was created. . . . Gettysburg was a small hamlet in 1800; but the selection of it as the county seat of the new county gave it an impetus that made it soon the most populous town of the new county.

"The first court held in the new county brought with it several lawyers traveling the circuit with the judge. Bye and bye four lawyers came to Gettysburg to locate, to be residents there," says the Compiler. "The following is a record of the fifth lawyer to be admitted to the bar of Adams county:

"August 25, 1802, Francis Scott Key, Esq., was admitted as an attorney and took the oath prescribed by law."

"Monday, August 25, 1802, was the first day of the regular August term of court. A careful search of the records does not disclose whether Mr. Key took part in any business at the August court, 1802, or afterward. Whether he came to attend business, or as a visiting attorney in the wake of the court, prospecting, as it were, or whether he contemplated removing from Frederick, where he had located but a few months before, to the new county to better himself, cannot be ascertained.

Distinguished Lawyer

"The fact remains that he came to the new county and was admitted to its bar, probably his first admission to any bar after his admission at Annapolis. The new county could not have been an inviting field, for one or more of the resident lawyers that preceded him only remained a short time, passing on in search of greener pastures. He returned to Frederick, but soon left it, removing to Washington, D. C., becoming a distinguished lawyer there."

Returned 30 Years Later

Mr. McClean's history in the Compiler says that it was almost 30 years after Francis Scott Key had shaken the dust of Gettysburg from his shoes that he returned here, a record of which is preserved by an act of his own hand and with a singular fact, Key, although he sang of "The Star Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave," was himself an owner of slaves. He sang stirring of the "land of the free" and was the master of one who was not a freeman.

"That the author of 'The Star Spangled Banner' was a kind and good master is made evident by the same writing that proves he was a slaveowner," says the Compiler. "On the third day of October, 1831, he made the second recorded visit to Gettysburg. He came now on an errand of freedom to give a new meaning to his own glorious song. While in Gettysburg he executed the following instrument which was placed on record here. The witnesses are two attorneys-at-law, residing at Gettysburg then, now dead.

Freed Slave for $5

"Pennsylvania, Adams county, ss. Whereas, I, Francis Scott Key, of the District of Columbia, being the owner of a certain man of color called Clem Johnston, now in Gettysburg, in the state of Pennsylvania, and being desirous for divers good causes and considerations to emancipate the said Clem Johnston and having agreed with him to leave him in the state of Pennsylvania free to continue there or to go wheresoever he may please. Now therefore in consideration of five dollars to me in hand paid and for other good causes and considerations I do hereby manumit and set free the said Clem Johnston from all services to me, my heirs, executors and administrators."

The document was witnessed by W. N. Irvin and W. McClellan, before Justice of the Peace "Samp S. King."

Key wrote the national anthem while a prisoner on a British ship in Baltimore harbor, as is well-known. He had gone to see the British authorities to procure the release of a friend who had been taken prisoner by the British. The latter were bombarding Fort M'Henry. As the morning light dawned, Key strained his eyes to see whether the Stars and Stripes or the Union Jack floated over the fort. As he beheld the American flag, he gave vent to his feelings by writing down on the back of a letter parts of his stirring poem, completing it the same day on his return to Baltimore.

Mr. Key became a personal and political friend of Andrew Jackson. On June 23, 1833, the latter appointed him United States district attorney for the District of Columbia. He was reappointed in 1837 by President Jackson and was given the position a third time by President Van Buren. He died January 11, 1843, at the age of 64.

One fourth of the bicycle accidents are due to improper turns by the cyclists, the National Safety Council has reported. Ranking third as the cause of cycle mishaps is "carrying an extra rider."

With more and more bicycles making their appearance in town everyone should be extra-careful... motorists and cyclists.

Parents should instruct their youngsters how to ride their bikes and how to conduct themselves while in traffic. Here are some rules suggested by the National Safety Council for bike riders:

Obey all traffic signs and rules.

Always signal before making turns.

Walk across heavy traffic.

Ride single file. Don't weave.

Watch carefully at railroad crossings.

Never "stunt" or race in traffic.

Avoid all "hitching."

Never carry passengers or drag children.

Carry parcels in racks or carriers.

Get off the roadway to make repairs.

Wear light-colored clothing at night.

In a recent radio debate, Senator Taft listed some cogent objections to the pending Wagner-Murray-Dingell public health bill.

Under the terms of this measure, the Senator pointed out, every man and woman in the country would have to pay for sickness insurance whether it was desired or not. The cost would amount to three or four per cent of every worker's wages, and might reach six per cent. The Federal government would have to establish a vast administrative organization to supervise and pay every doctor in the nation. "Every doctor becomes a Federal employee. Health service will be nationalized and a Federal bureau will tell everyone what kind of service his insurance covers, when he can have a doctor and when he cannot, how many patients a doctor can have, when and how often the doctor can call at the home, and all the details of medical service. This vast system of Federally-employed physicians will practically supersede our entire medical system," he said.

Another bill introduced in Congress, and supported by Senator Taft, takes a different approach to the problem. It would give the states Federal aid to fill up gaps in medical service. It would place the administration where it belongs—in the states and local communities which are conversant with their own needs.

It would provide medical service only for those who cannot pay for it—not for those who are perfectly able to pay under the present system. And it would encourage the establishment of voluntary health insurance plans

Industry Decontrols Are Being Readied

Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Civilian Production Administration, beginning to chart its exit from the federal scene, Wednesday prepared to cast off two more wartime controls over industry.

Highly placed officials reported that CPA Chief John D. Small shortly will revoke order L-99, which "freezes" cotton looms to the production of essential fabrics, and L-101, which limits the size and shape of glass containers.

The loom freeze dates back to 1942, when the government stepped in to halt the tendency of mills to concentrate on higher-priced "luxury" fabrics. It requires them to turn out fixed percentages of the cloths needed for garments and work clothes, bagging for farmers, and industrial fabrics.

NEW VIOLENCE IN PALESTINE

Jerusalem, Oct. 31 (AP)—A road mine which police said had been set by the Jewish underground exploded under a military convoy here at dawn Wednesday, wrecking two army trucks, killing two soldiers and injuring 10.

Troops and police launched a search immediately and soon announced discovery of a "fairly large" cache of illegal weapons in the Jewish settlement of Givat Shaul, just outside the city. A curfew had been clamped on the settlement October 9, after a similar explosion on a nearby road.

Jerusalem's curfew orders were amended to extend from 6 p. m. until 7 a. m., rather than from 6:30 p. m. to 5:30 a. m. The curfew was extended to include the Nahalat Shimon quarter, a Jewish area, for those who wish them.

Present trends in train styling indicate that the Orange & Navy Blue colors of Gettysburg College may be flying the rails on new streamline passenger trains. Already the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Company has "made the kick-off" in this direction when it delivered the new postwar trains to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois and the Pere Marquette railroads. The C & E train exteriors are decorated with the Orange and Blue of the University of Illinois and the Pere Marquette trains use the Maize and Blue of Michigan as the dominant color theme.

One million Bibles, a surplus war property item, will be made available free of charge to religious, educational, welfare and similar organizations by the War Assets Administration in conjunction with the Chief of Chaplains, Major General Luther D. Miller. The Bibles are part of the eleven million purchased for morale purposes during the war. Most are pocket size. Some are the King James version, some the Douay version and others are a version prepared for fighting men of the Jewish faith. Send inquiries to Chief of Chaplains, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.

where the attack occurred. Police first said three soldiers were killed and 12 injured, but later revised the casualty list.

Another outbreak of violence was reported from the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, where four armed men robbed two Polish cashiers of $2,000 in a daring street holdup.

The Tel Aviv robbers, who used smoke bombs to keep passersby and police at bay, missed a satchel containing $48,000 in their hurry to escape. The money was being taken from a bank to the Polish refugee committee office.

SOUTH IS LOSING POPULATION TO NORTH AND WEST

Washington (AP)—President Roosevelt long ago called the south the nation's No. 1 economic problem. It still is behind the rest of the country.

How much it is behind, although it has shown improvement, is made pretty clear in "Labor in the South," a series of articles in October's monthly labor review, a publication of the labor department.

These articles—economic studies on southern income and workers—are not for popular reading. But, for economic studies, they're well and clearly written.

Losing People

And they're important for anyone who wishes to know what is happening in the south to workers, their wages and the kind of jobs they do. Briefly, the articles say this:

1. The south is losing people every year to the north and west. More people leave the south each year than go into it to live.

2. Southern income is behind the rest of the country.

3. Yet the birth rate in the South is greater than elsewhere.

Which means: Men and women, trained, educated and raised in the south, go away and other sections of the country get the benefit of their work.

What The Figures Show

Here are what some of the figures show:

Between 1923 and 1930 nearly 130,000 more people left the south than went there to settle. This figure dropped to 100,000 during the depression of 1930. One-third of those leaving are negroes. Negroes don't go there to live.

Came the defense program and the war years. People flooded out of the south because there were more war jobs elsewhere. Between 1940-45 the south suffered a net loss of about 900,000 to the north and west.

What's the answer? Will the migration from the south slow down? Yes, the study says, if there's more large-scale industrialization there. Which means: More industry, more and bigger factories.

Or, the study goes on, a severe depression would keep the southerners home since they couldn't find jobs elsewhere.

One outstanding reason for the difference between the income of the south and the rest of the country is this: so much of the south is devoted to farming.

And there's a difference between farming there and elsewhere: farms are smaller, there are fewer farm tools, and the work done per man is less.

The number of U. S. semi-skilled workers rose from 15 per cent of the working force in 1910 to 21 per cent in 1940.

BIGGEST UNIONS START TO TALK HIGHER WAGES

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, (AP)—The biggest unions—the ones which had the biggest strikes since the war ended—are beginning to talk higher wages again.

Those unions are the CIO Auto-workers, the CIO Steelworkers, and John L. Lewis, AFL Coal Miners.

Their gigantic strikes, coming as they did in the midst of reconversion, tied the country in knots. They'll tie it in knots again if they strike again.

It is not certain they will strike. Wait and see. So far the word "strike" has not been mentioned by the autoworkers, steelworkers or coal miners. At the moment they're talking only of higher wages.

Can They Afford It?

There is a question: Can they afford to strike again any time soon?

The autoworkers went through five lean months of strike, starting in the fall of 1945 and winding up in the early months of 1946. The steelworkers struck one month last winter. The coal miners were out two months last spring.

After any lengthy strike, in which workers finally win higher wages, it takes them a good while to make up for the income they lost by strike.

The root of what is happening now goes deep, and away back.

Four years ago this month the government, for the first time in our history, said an employer could not raise or slash wages without government okay.

Tied Wages To Prices

In this way the government tied wages into prices. For some months earlier in 1942 the government had put a lid on prices. Thus by controlling wages and prices, the government tried to keep both in line.

But that control of wages and prices is beginning to disappear now. It began to fade after the Japanese surrender when the government did this:

It said an employer could raise wages without government approval, and as much as he wished, if he didn't try to use that wage increase as a reason for raising prices.

If he did, then the government stepped in and, before letting him raise his prices a limited amount, it put a limit on the size of the wage increase he could give.

Climax This Month

So to this extent, at least, it still tried to control wages and prices.

In each of the three big strikes mentioned here—autos, steel, coal—the government had to step in and establish wage limits. It did the same in other big strikes.

But as the months passed the government removed more and more controls from prices and the climax—or the near-climax—came this month when President Truman took all controls off meat.

Meanwhile, because the government still has price controls on autos, steel and coal, it still controls wages in those industries.

The Chinese were the first to use stamp impressions on clay.

FINDERS' KEEPERS

Tokyo, (AP)—The Japanese government is so short of transportation its officials are going about their business in stolen automobiles—but it's all strictly legal. Supreme headquarters granted the government permission today to use 39 automobiles held by police, but if an owner recognizes his machine carrying some official around he gets it back.
